

BEFORE YOU DROP A CLASS. . .

SINCE YOUR CCV FINANCIAL AID DEPENDS ON CLASS ATTENDANCE, THERE IS USUALLY A FINANCIAL CONSIDERATION TO DROPPING A CLASS.

IF YOU ARE NOT RECEIVING ANY FINANCIAL AID:

See CCV's refund policy as you may owe your entire bill and not receive any refund.

IF YOU ARE RECEIVING FINANCIAL AID:

1. Be sure to check the refund policy first.
2. If you have a loan and you fall below six credits, you will lose your loan if it has not been disbursed to CCV.
3. If you stop attending all your classes or drop all of them, your financial aid (Stafford loans and Pell, VSAC and SEOG grants) will be prorated to the last date of attendance or your withdrawal date. This will most likely result in your owing a bill to CCV.
4. Pell, VSAC and SEOG grants and Stafford loans ALL are affected by dropping a class. If you drop in the first three weeks but stay in at least three credits, you will not be eligible for aid for the dropped courses; your financial aid will be adjusted.
5. Scholarships may be withdrawn or reduced.
6. Veteran's benefits may also be reduced or cancelled. Check with the VA office handling your claim.
7. As you can see in CCV's refund policy, one day can make a difference. All students receive a copy of the refund policy at registration, and it is also in each Course Schedule, Catalog, and Student Handbook.
8. Also, your academic standing and eligibility for future financial aid could well be in jeopardy if you drop a class. Please give your decision due consideration.

BECAUSE DROPPING A CLASS CAN HAVE SEVERE CONSEQUENCES, CHECK WITH YOUR ACADEMIC ADVISOR AND FINANCIAL AID COUNSELOR AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.
