

The Vermont State Colleges

Castleton State College

Castleton is small enough to be a community where every student matters, yet large enough to offer 30 academic programs, 20 sports, and more than 40 clubs. Castleton stresses community service and sustainability and provides exceptional programs for first-year students.

Community College of Vermont

With 12 locations statewide, Vermont is CCV's campus. Each year nearly 12,000 students enroll in 1,000 courses and 30 certificate and associate degree programs. CCV offers an extensive menu of online courses, and many program requirements are fully available online. CCV provides an affordable and flexible education for students of many ages and backgrounds, with easy transfer and guaranteed admissions to four-year colleges.

Johnson State College

With signature programs in the fine and performing arts, environmental sciences and education, Johnson State College engages students in the classroom and in the community through extensive field-based research, internships and service-learning opportunities. In addition to its 25 bachelor's and 4 master's degree programs, JSC takes pride in a community-based External Degree Program that serves 500+ students annually throughout Vermont.

Lyndon State College

From Music Business and Industry to award-winning Meteorology and Television Studies, Lyndon State programs put students in the field working with professionals before they graduate in any of 24 majors. Community partnerships help grow the local economy and support area school districts.

Vermont Technical College

Founded in 1866 and named among U.S. News & World Report's top 10 public colleges in the north, Vermont Tech offers practical, hands-on education and experience in more than 20 bachelor's and associate's degree programs. As the state's only technical college, its graduates are uniquely prepared to work in a wide range of fields and are sought after by some of the country's most innovative employers.

Special Programs

For Adults

Assessment of Prior Learning (APL) gives college credit for students' college-level learning acquired through work, community experience, self-study or other non-college experiences.

The Johnson State College External Degree Program (EDP) helps adult learners with at least 60 credits complete their bachelor's degree largely in their own community through a flexible combination of courses offered on weekends, online and in the evenings.

For High School Students

Introduction to College Studies helps students develop strategies for college success. The Dual Enrollment and Fast Forward programs allow high school and technical center students to earn college credit while still in high school. The Vermont Academy of Science and Technology (VAST) offers a full-year alternative to the senior year of high school, allowing students to complete their last year of high school and their freshman year of college simultaneously.

Fall 2009 high school student enrollment: 747

For Business & Industry

The Vermont Manufacturing Extension Center (VMEC) is a not-for-profit center that provides assistance and training to help manufacturers improve their manufacturing and business processes, adopt advanced technologies, increase productivity, reduce costs and improve competitiveness.

The Vermont Small Business Development Center (SBDC) is a non-profit partnership of government, education, and business whose mission is to strengthen existing business entities and assist start-ups with high-quality, no-cost counseling and affordable training programs.

The VTC Technology Extension Division (TED) designs and delivers workforce education and training for and to employers and individuals throughout Vermont.

Vermont Interactive Television is Vermont's premier video-conferencing and distance learning system, with 15 locations statewide.
